Republican Report Says de Valera Is in the Fight, but This Is Not Credited.

DUBLIN, June 30.—The rebel garrison in the Four Courts surrendered to the Free State forces at 4 o'clock this afternoon, after a day of vigorous fighting, culminating in a series of terrific explosions which shook the city of Dublin.

Following the most severe of the explosions, that at 12:30 o'clock, thirty dead and wounded were taken from the building.

The explosions, which are supposed to have been caused by mines set by the rebels, set the historic building afire, and at a late hour tonight it was feared that it would collapse.

General O'Connell, Assistant Chief of Staff of the regular I. R. A., who was held in the Four Courts as a hostage, and whose capture by the rebels was the immediate cause of the attack on them, was released at 1 o'clock and returned to Beggan Bush headquarters.

A republican report this afternoon said that Eamon de Valera was in active service with the rebels, but this is not generally credited, as he was seen in the streets yesterday.

Reports from Cork assert that the rebels there are making preparations to stand siege in their strongholds. In Donegal General McKenna is reported to be taking vigorous measures to repress order.

The explosion terrific. It was a nerve-racking morning, guns of all kinds pounding in streets far distant from the scene, who were shaken by the shock, were horror-stricken at the appalling nature of the occurrence.

A huge tongue of flame burst forth, followed by an immense cloud of smoke, which darkened the center of the city. Many houses in the vicinity of the Four Courts were actually rocked. Many windows were shattered and people in adjoining houses were thrown to the ground.

At 12:30 o'clock noon, as the battle was at its height, a terrific explosion, which shook the center of the city, took place at the rear of the building.

DUBLIN, June 30.—The success of the Government forces has already had an excellent effect upon public feeling. A spirit of optimism has revived.

With the fall of the Four Courts their task has only been begun. All over the city nests of snipers have been set up, so that hardly a street is free from them.

However fanatical or desperate, these young men cannot continue against the positive ill-will of the population.

LONDON, Ireland, June 30.—Operations on an extensive scale were carried out from an early hour this morning by Free State troops in Donegal.

Reports from Cork assert that the rebels there are making preparations to stand siege in their strongholds.

SOVIET DEMANDS $1,600,000,000 LOAN

Litvinoff Raises by $600,000,000 the Amount Demanded at Genoa and Refused. FOR MOSCOW'S OWN USE $100,000,000 Gold Wanted to Start a New Currency—Rest for Transportation, Agriculture and Commerce.

only could be done by giving the Soviets the credits asked for. Litvinoff said his figures showed the Soviets could not pay back for all at once. The Soviet government has three years, although more than one-third might be needed the first year. He had asked for represented only the credits the Soviet needed in foreign currencies and was only a percentage of the total amount of the loan which would have to spend.

By EDWIN L. JAMES, Copyright, 1922, by The New York Times Company, Special Cable to The New York Times.

THE HAGUE, June 30.—The Hague Russian conference hit the same sort of rock today that wrecked the Genoa Russian conference. The Soviet demand for $1,600,000,000 in gold was a latest bid for credits. Only it was a larger one. Litvinoff demanded $1,600,000,000 in gold, and the conference failed when European plenipotentiaries told him it was impossible. Today Litvinoff asked for credits totaling $1,600,000,000 as a condition for a re-opening of Russian obligations with a loan of $100,000,000 in gold. The demand has nothing to do with the plan for trading credits worked out at Genoa. That was a plan for Government to issue new Russian money. It was a plan for trading credits worked out at Genoa. That was a plan for Government to issue new Russian money. It was a plan for trading credits worked out at Genoa.

When Litvinoff announced on Tuesday that the Russians would do nothing about debts or private property until they got credits he was asked to state how much he wanted and for what. Today he gave the Credits Commission his reply. He announced he wanted credits in foreign currency and gold for a total of $1,600,000,000. The plan to divide into four categories: first, transport, 1,600,000,000 gold rubles; second, agriculture, 250,000,000 gold rubles; third, industry, 1,000,000,000 gold rubles; and fourth, miscellaneous. It included in each category a certain amount of gold rubles and bank credits 200,000,000.

Litvinoff then advanced the argument that allied intervention had cost Russia 200,000,000,000 gold rubles. He said he was asking for the purpose of showing the Russians they were letting the Allies off too easy. He said that the Allies had taken 150,000,000,000 gold rubles from Russia. At 2.30 o'clock the order "cease fire" was given to all troops in the vicinity of the Four Courts and soon afterwards the garrison was seen leaving, a priest at their head, and mustering on Ormond Quay close by. French and Belgian Reply. M. Chevilly for the French said he had been interested by Litvinoff's figures but thought them a theoretic index of volume rather than the volume of business. He suggested that the Russian government should submit its plan in the form of a memorandum. M. Wittmer of Belgium regarded Litvinoff's figures as fantastic and translated them into paper money figures. He then said the Russians must think these figures as a goal but not as a demand. He pointed out that before the war Belgium's foreign trade was greater than Russia's. Then he reviewed Belgian industry in Russia before the war. He said that Belgium had exported 100,000,000 gold rubles to Russia before the war. He said that Belgium had exported 100,000,000 gold rubles to Russia before the war.

After the meeting the Russians said they were seeking money and that of the creditors stood little chance of ever collecting. Litvinoff said the credits asked for were those necessary to raise Russia to the point where she could balance exports and imports and pay her debts. He said that the Russians were asking for money to pay their debts. He said that the Russians were asking for money to pay their debts.

HOUSE ADJOURNS, RECONVENES AUG. 15

Agrees to All Conference Reports on Annual Appropriation Bills.

MONDELL REPEATS BOASTS

Republican Floor Leader Points to $200,000,000 Surplus as Proof of Party's Economy.

Special to The New York Times. WASHINGTON, June 30.—The House adjourned upon all conference reports on annual appropriation bills which became effective tomorrow and adjourned at 10 o'clock tonight until Aug. 15. During the recess the Administration's subsidy bill will be carried to the people, and the House on its reconvening will immediately take up this bill.

It is expected that the Senate will have passed the tariff bill by the time the House members return. After this bill is sent to the conference the Senate will consider the bonus measure while the House has the subsidy bill before it. Indications are that this session of Congress will not adjourn finally until the latter part of September because of the great controversy existing as to a ship subsidy. If President Harding insists upon final action in Congress before the elections the session may run until October.

Nation-wide criticism of the present Congress, and particularly of the House of Representatives, did not deter Representative Mondell, the Republican floor leader, from stating in a speech late this afternoon that this Congress was one of the most diligent and intelligent he had ever known. He repeated with great emphasis his former assertions that in no Congress in history had better progress been made in considering taxation and revenue legislation, and that no previous House had considered and passed so much important legislation in the same period of time.

Criticism and badgering of Congress were easy to indulge in, Mr. Mondell said. When he referred to his critics he made what members took to be an allusion to Secretary Weeks, who only recently incurred the floor leader's anger by saying in a public address that Congress had fallen to a low ebb.

The Congress afforded the most alluring of all fields for criticism to those who have been denied by the popular will a place within one or the other of its two houses," said Representative Mondell in this way, so some of his hearers thought, referring to Secretary Weeks' failure to win the Massachusetts Senate seat. "and the critics who disappointed because the Congress has declined to accept their views or accede to their demands, find it much easier to damp the Congress than to defend their own position: to those who, quite regardless of the facts, criticize the Congress for purely partisan reasons; to those who, immersed in editorial sarcasms, out of an entire lack of national viewpoint and complete isolation from the pulse of national sentiment consciously or unconsciously reflect the selfish and provincial sentiment which filters through the editorial keyhole."

Fortunately, after all, the country will judge the Congress by what it does rather than by what is said about it, and in that reflection the members of this House can return to their constituencies with a record of wise and helpful legislation which should and will win their approval."

Taking up the main theme of his speech, "the first year of Congress under President Harding," Representative Mondell said: "The work of this House has been carried on in co-operation with the President along the lines of a program based upon the pledges and promises of our party in the national platform. The interest-bearing debt has been reduced by a billion dollars. Through economy appropriations and expenditures we have balanced the national budget and present a surplus of receipts over expenditures of approximately $200,000,000. In appropriations for the coming fiscal year we have adhered to and improved upon our record of economy and have made a saving over the current year of approximately $215,000,000 in appropriations for the war establishments."

"We have reduced the annual burden of taxation in the sum of nearly a billion dollars, and the burden has been lifted fairly and equitably."

This Congress has up to this time placed upon the statute books 398 separate laws, of which 311 are public and 87 are private, including claims. This is the rate of one law for every 1.25 days of legislative day for the entire session. In addition, the House of Representatives has considered and passed 27 bills, of which 128 are public and 14 are private, including claims. In addition to these, 17 separate bills have passed the House, but have not reached the Senate. This makes an average of two and one-third bills considered by the House of Representatives each legislative day of the Congress."

Promising that Martin Madden, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, would later present a detailed statement of reductions in expenditures made by the Republican Congress, Representative Mondell said:

"The last fiscal year for which the regular annual appropriations were all made by a Democratic Congress and spent by a Democratic Administration was the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919. The total expenditures of the Government for that year were $15,514,870,000."

"The first fiscal year in which the Republican Congress had control of the appropriations, though not of the expenditures—was the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920. The Federal expenditures were $10,483,343,361. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, the Republican Congress made the appropriations, but for eight months of the year the Democratic Administration controlled the outlay, and the total expenditures for that year were $11,927,650."

"The first fiscal year in which the Republican Congress and a Republican Administration has had control of the fiscal year just closed, and the Treasury officials estimate expenditures of the year chargeable against ordinary receipts at $8,500,000,000. The estimated receipts for the fiscal year are $4,100,000,000, leaving a surplus of approximately $300,000,000 of ordinary receipts over ordinary expenditures."

"We have, therefore, in the first year of the Republican Administration balanced the budget with a surplus of $200,000,000. Not only have we brought about this steady economy of expenditures and in this first year of President Harding's Administration created a surplus of $200,000,000, but we have also reduced the public debt by approximately a billion dollars. Four hundred and twenty-five millions of this reduction has been accomplished by the retirement of obligations through the sinking fund and other debt expenditures."

chargeable to ordinary receipts. Approximately $300,000,000 of surplus current funds have been used in debt retirement.

It is true that a part of the reduction of the natural debt has been accomplished through a reduction in the balance of the general fund, but on the other hand, a very considerable portion of current funds has been used in loans by the War Finance Corporation and advances to meet war obligations, such as those of the Shipping Board, the Railroad Administration and other Government agencies. "The good work of the Congress and of the Administration will endeavor to minimize the extent of the reductions and economies that have been accomplished, but the fact remains that at the end of the first year of the Harding Administration the interest-bearing public debt will be approximately a billion dollars less than at the beginning of the Administration. This great reduction of the Treasury will show a balance of approximately $200,000,000 of receipts above expenditures. "The tariff, the soldier bonus, and the ship subsidy bills and the financing of agriculture would all be dealt with as soon as possible, Mr. Mondell promised."

QUEENS PLAZA STATION PLANS ARE APPROVED

Transit Commission Passes on Reconstruction to Cut Out Extra Fare to Times Square.

The Transit Commission approved yesterday the plan of Robert Ridgway, its chief engineer, for the reconstruction of the Queens Plaza station to provide for the participation of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company in the operation of the Astoria and Corona branches and to enable Queens passengers on those branches to connect with the B. R. T. line in Manhattan for a five-cent fare. At present, because of the difference in the width of the B. R. T. and Interborough subway cars, the Interborough is operating the branches alone, although joint operation was provided for in the dual subway contracts.

According to Mr. Ridgway's estimate, the reconstruction will cost $100,000 for structural changes at the station and $30,000 for track work. The B. R. T. will maintain a shuttle service on each branch with its narrow wooden cars as far as the Queens Plaza station, where passengers will transfer to the wide cars and proceed direct to Times Square by the way of Fifty-seventh Street. At present Queens passengers wishing to go to Times Square either have to pay an additional fare and transfer at Queens Plaza or have to go by way of Grand Central Station and the Forty-second Street shuttle.

The commission practically has agreed to locate stations on the Corona branch extension to Flushing at Tiemann and De Beyster Avenues, at Roosevelt Avenue at Hewitt Avenue and Willets Point Boulevard, with the terminal at Main Street, Flushing. The latter will be an express station and the other local stations.

VENNER'S JUDGMENT AGAINST I. R. T. STANDS

Supreme Court Confirms Decisions in Three Cases Amounting to $70,000 Interest on Stock.

The Interborough Rapid Transit Company must pay judgments aggregating $70,000 entered against it by Clarence H. Venner and two companies controlled by him, or face execution proceedings, according to a unanimous decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court rendered yesterday. No opinion was issued, but, as the decision was unanimous, the defendant must obtain permission to carry the case to the Court of Appeals.

The plaintiffs brought suit as possessors of notes included in the three-year 7 per cent gold certificate issue, aggregating $33,400,000, which was floated by the Bankers Trust Company on Sept. 1, 1918, and made payable at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. Payment was not made when the notes became due, and about 89 per cent of the holders agreed to extend the time of payment. The defendants contended that a trust agreement between the Interborough and the Bankers Trust Company provided that no individual holder could bring suit unless in conjunction with others holding 25 per cent of the total issue, and then only after notice to the trustee. Two judgments for $25,000 each, with interest, in favor of Venner and the General Investment Company and a judgment for $20,000 in favor of the Interborough and the Company were confirmed. Elijah N. Zolne appeared for the plaintiffs, and James L. Macauliffe, general counsel of the Interborough, for the defendant.

MRS. BERGDOLL LOSES.

Suit to Recover Wealth Seized by Government Fails.

Special to The New York Times. WASHINGTON, June 30.—Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll of Philadelphia, mother of the late Senator Charles D. Bergdoll, lost her fight today in the Equity Court to recover more than $1,500,000 worth of cash and negotiable paper which was seized by the Alien Property Custodian because the Government was unable to determine how much of this property was owned by her husband. Justice Jennings Bailey decided that Mrs. Bergdoll could not maintain the suit for recovery because she had refused to answer certain questions on a cross-examination by the Government's lawyers and had also refused to produce certain documentary evidence demanded at the trial. She got into trouble with Justice Bailey on one occasion because she was said to have talked too much, a fine of $50 for contempt of court being imposed. The fine was remitted later.

The dismissal of the suit was without prejudice and Mrs. Bergdoll may again file suit on behalf of herself or her son.

PUTS 1923 DEFICIT AT $485,000,000

Gilbert Says 4 1/2-Billion Refunding Operation Will Keep Treasury Busy.

BUDGET FOR 1922 BALANCED

Under Secretary Attributes This to Economics Under President's "Firm Leadership."

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The Government balanced its budget for the fiscal year ending today. This result of the Federal financial operations for the year was described by Under-Secretary of the Treasury Gilbert as "no mean accomplishment," but for the fiscal year 1923, opening tomorrow, he declared the prospects "not good," with a budget deficit estimated as high as $485,000,000.

Final Treasury reports for the closing fiscal year will not be available for a day or two, but Mr. Gilbert, who has charge of the Government finances, declares that expenditures for the year would be less than $3,500,000,000, or $200,000,000 less than was estimated as necessary by the spending departments at the onset of the year, and that there would be a small surplus of receipts. "That this has been accomplished," he said, "in the face of the unfavorable prospects that confronted us at the beginning of the year is due to the unflinching efforts of the Government departments and establishments under the firm leadership of the President to reduce current expenditures to the utmost limits consistent with proper administration."

In the coming year, the Under-Secretary pointed to the possibility of a deficit greater than already estimated, appropriations for 1923 not yet having been passed by Congress. However, he maintained, the Government owes it to himself and the rest of the world to keep its finances clean and balance its budget for 1923 as in the way of fifty-seventh Street. At present to accomplish this is to reduce expenditures already estimated and avoid new avenues of expenditure to such an extent as may be necessary to wipe out the indicated deficit.

In discussing the handling of the public debt in 1922, Mr. Gilbert declared that with the approach of the end of the year the total gross debt of the United States was about $22,950,000,000, a total reduction of more than $2,400,000,000 since its peak on Aug. 31, 1919. This was accomplished, he explained, by the application of $1,000,000,000 in advance in the general fund made possible by reduced expenditures and outstanding maturities, application of about $200,000,000 of repayments by foreign Governments; receipt of funds from salvage and other assets remaining over from the war aggregating about $1,000,000,000; and the application to debt retirement of about $1,000,000,000 of surplus tax receipts during the fiscal years 1920, 1921 and 1922.

For the future, he asserted, liquidation of the public debt would have to be accomplished chiefly from surplus revenue receipts, and particularly through sinking fund and other accounts, as the Treasury balance had been reduced to as low a figure as consistent with proper conduct of Government business. Enough had been accomplished, Mr. Gilbert said, to assure the success of the Treasury's plans for refunding the $7,500,000,000 of Treasury debt, consisting of Victory notes maturing in May, 1923, Treasury certificates a fundableness and War Savings certificates.

Since the Treasury's refunding program was opened in April, 1921, he reported, remarkable progress had been made. Victory notes now outstanding amounted to about $2,000,000,000 as compared with $4,000,000,000 at that time; Treasury certificates aggregating about $1,500,000,000 as compared with $2,750,000,000 and War Savings certificates $500,000,000 as against $750,000,000. There were now outstanding, he continued, about $2,200,000,000 of entirely new obligations in the form of Treasury notes, issued in accordance with the refunding plan. These, however, he explained, would mature at various dates in the years 1924, 1925 and 1926, and the Treasury should be able to frame its plans so as to take care of them at market rates, and to refund the debt through secondary refunding operations, if necessary, without undue strain to the financial markets.

There still remains outstanding, however, he said, about $4,500,000,000 of obligations maturing within less than a year, $2,000,000,000 of which is in the form of Treasury notes, and their refunding presents a problem that will require the best attention of the Treasury for the remainder of the next fiscal year.

FOR POLICE HEROES' WIDOWS

Percentage of Film Drama's Receipts Set Aside for Them.

Widows of New York's slain police heroes will benefit from the performance of "In the Name of the Law," a new motion picture, which will open for an extended run at the George M. Cohan Theatre, Times Square, on July 9. R-C Pictures Corporation has arranged to distribute a percentage of the gross receipts to a limited number of widows of police officers who have died in service since the beginning of the year.

"In the Name of the Law" is a screen drama produced by Henry Johnson and interpreted by a cast including Claire McDowell, Ella Hall, John Wray and Ralph Lewis. The photoplay was shown recently to the convention of the National Police Association and was endorsed by them as an accurate picture of the adventures, romance, comedy and pathos that fit the life of the policeman.

ANARCHIST ASSAILS SOVIETS

Lively Discard Develops at French Communist Labor Convention.

PARIS, June 30.—Disagreements between the Anarchists and Communists are threatening to break up the meeting at St. Etienne of the French Communist Federation of Labor, to which Spanish, Belgian and other delegates were invited. The Anarchist Leonin at yesterday's session was especially violent in attack upon the Russian Soviet Government, accusing Leon Trotsky, Minister of War, of looking up Socialists and Anarchists. Secretary Losowsky of the Bolshevik Workers' Union of Moscow chose to ignore the attack at the meeting and demand the right to speak. The Italian Anarchist then declared, amid a clamor of protests from the Communists, that Losowsky did not have a clear conscience.

When Losowsky got the platform he denounced the Anarchists as "social backsliders and destroyers of civilization." At this Toti attempted to make himself heard, but Losowsky after a few more words slipped out the side door.

INDICT CREESEY FOR MURDER

First-Degree Charge—Counsel Fears "Air of Hostility."

William L. Creesey was indicted for first degree murder by the Nassau County Grand Jury at Mineola yesterday. He was charged with killing Miss Edith Lavoy, Freeport school teacher. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Supreme Court Justice Callaghan. At the arraignment Creesey's counsel, Raymond D. Malone, complained of an "air of hostility" which, he thought, might preclude a fair trial. Justice Callaghan remarked that Nassau County didn't try cases by atmosphere. July 11 before County Judge Lewis Smith was the date tentatively fixed for Creesey's trial.

6 SHOT IN BOLD-UP OF $16,000 PAYROLL

Guards of Bank Runners Give Battle When Philadelphia Bandits Open Fire.

POLICEMAN SAVES MONEY
Fullscale Too Hot for Thugs, They Load Wounded Man Into Their Stolen Auto and Escape.

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—Six persons were shot today in a gun fight between bandits and runners of the Textile National Bank carrying payrolls to textile mills in the northeastern section of the city.

The most seriously wounded was John C. Mitchell, a patrolman, who accompanied the runners. He is in a hospital suffering from numerous gunshot wounds. Joseph N. Bollenford, a bank watchman, received gunshot wounds and a slight pistol bullet wound in the forehead. Theodore Wolfe, a runner, a woman and a negro also were struck by the shot.

One of the bandits dropped at the first fire. Bollenford declared he had struck the robber in the breast with a bullet from a pistol of large calibre.

The four men carrying the payrolls, which amounted to about $16,000, had just alighted from a trolley when a large sedan drove up and the men leaped out and opened fire with shotguns and pistols. The fire was returned so smartly by the patrolman and the bank watchman that the bandits retreated behind their car.

Meanwhile, one of the bandits had fallen and Bollenford went down from the shock of the pursuit which gained pace off his head, dropping the money bag as he fell. The patrolman grabbed the bag, flung himself through a basement window of a mill and, leaving the money there, returned to the aid of Bollenford and Wolfe, although he was badly wounded.

At this juncture the fire became too hot for the robbers and they placed their wounded or dead companion in the car and drove away. Bollenford continued to fire into the car, and shortly thereafter commanded the only machine in sight, a truck, with which he took up the pursuit. He was outdistanced in a short time, however.

The bandit car was later found abandoned several miles from the scene. It was identified as the property of Sidney P. Scott of Delaware City, with a business establishment in Wilmington, Del. The car was reported missing by Scott on June 14. It bore a Washington license plate issued to John T. Koff, who gave his address as 415 West 121st Street, Philadelphia, and his occupation as an engineer. No guest of that name had registered at the hotel, it was said.

TWO BOYS DROWNED AS VACATION BEGINS

One, 9 Years Old, Dies in Bronx River; Another, 18, in the Hudson.

Disobeying his mother's instructions not to go swimming yesterday, 9-year-old Robert Mullen of 690 Westchester Avenue, the Bronx, succumbed to the lure of the Bronx River's cool water and died of the pursuit. He was outdistanced in a short time, however.

A companion, Charles O'Connor, 19 years old, of 743 Forest Avenue, the Bronx, called Patrolman Hoffman of the Simpson Street Station when Robert failed to come to the surface. The patrolman could not find the body, but the police of the marine division later recovered it. It was believed that the boy struck a rock in diving, or became caught in the muddy bottom. Yesterday was the first day of school vacation.

John Powers, 18 years old, of 130 West Eighty-fourth Street was drowned about 8:15 o'clock last night while bathing in the Hudson River between Eighty-fourth and Eighty-fifth Streets. Powers did not know how to swim. To boys who declined to go in with him he said he would learn how when he got into the water. They saw him strip off his clothes, jump in and disappear. After coming up twice, he threw up his hat and called for help. The boys called a policeman, but Powers had gone under for the last time when one arrived. Powers, with grappling lines failed to find the body.

The body of a man drowned in the Harlem River off 123rd Street Wednesday was identified as that of Patrick Donnellan, 54 years old, by Thomas Lillis of 483 West Nineteenth Street, at whose home the man's friends had been searching for him since his mysterious disappearance a week ago. The dead man is said to have suffered an injury to his head recently.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 30.—The body of Paul Blanc, 40 years old, a waiter at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel here, was washed ashore early today on the beach at the foot of Albany Avenue. Blanc had been missing since Wednesday, when he went in bathing.

A PRESBYTERIAN PLATFORM.

Work of Findings Committee Is Adopted at Stony Brook Session.

STONY BROOK, N. Y., June 30.—Adoption of a platform presented by the Findings Committee of the Presbyterian Conference of Delegates marked the closing session of the convention here today. More than half the denomination was represented at the conference, which began last Monday.

As a practical expression of the value of the conference, the platform commends the action taken here for a recommendation to the Presbyterian denomination that a definite effort be made to increase the ratio of home-rolled members of the fellowship of stewardship to 200,000.

Touching on the New Era movement the platform recommends: "While the New Era movement is recognized as officially representing the results will be strengthened by presenting whenever possible the deliverance of the General Assembly, which convey an authoritative message rather than giving the impression that recommendations are suggested by the New Era movement. The movement should be handled in proportion as it loses itself in dealing with synods, Presbyteries and Churches."

The Findings Committee which presented the platform consisted of A. H. Culliford, Buffalo, N. Y.; the Rev. Joseph D. Burrell, Brooklyn; the Rev. Joel S. Gilliland, Wilmington, Del.; Ramsey Crumrine, Meadville, Pa.; the Rev. Arthur J. Dean, Ulster, N. Y.; Mrs. B. Williams, East McKeesport, Pa.; and W. L. Darby, Washington, D. C. Dr. John A. Marqueti, General Secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, in an address said that the spirit of evangelism was never so high as now and that in spite of the recognition of materialism, thinking people were turning to Christ for the solution of the world's ills.

KING OF PARIS BOHEMIA DEAD; RULED 30 YEARS

PARIS, June 30.—After thirty years' uncontradicted rule, Adelbert Biar de Gherardine, the King of Bohemia, was buried this morning in Père La Chaise Cemetery.

This self-crowned sovereign ruled a realm of which the frontiers were undefined, and his subjects were from the four corners of the earth. All who studied or spent any time in the Latin Quarter will remember him as one of the most picturesque figures in Paris.

With him disappears something more than merely a wild, eccentric Bohemian. Many students who attended his funeral felt that they were burying a whole epoch; that with him died the last vestige of the real old Latin Quarter.

A descendant of an old Breton noble family—his brother was an Admiral in the French Navy and a brother-in-law was a prominent Paris banker—de Gherardine, born in 1847, came to the Latin Quarter in 1883 to spend a few years in study, and remained there the rest of his days. He was well over six feet tall and powerfully built. All those who knew the Latin Quarter before the war remember his curious figure swinging down the Boulevard St. Michel, dressed in strange garb, consisting of a sort of rough shooting jacket and long philosophical lectures. For the self-styled King held court anywhere and everywhere, retiring in the small room to treat a head in the "Boul Miché," where the policemen allowed him the privilege of lying unaccompanied on a bench, the last of his kind to be buried here. The small monthly allowance received from family members and the rest of the month was spent "borrowing" 50 centimes or francs from students, which he never returned, the donors being rewarded by long philosophical lectures. For the "king" who had been a student of philosophy, dearly loved to expound views which, although highly attractive, would not often have gained the approval of the former Sorbonne professors.

The war rendered de Gherardine's former mode of life impossible, and he obtained a small post with a bookstore at the Latin quarter. Three years ago he published a book entitled "Thirty Years in Bohemia," which is now out of print and much sought by collectors.

FATHER BILL DALY, 80, IS PARTED FROM WIFE

Legal Separation Order Ends Dispute in Which Horseman Was Called Cruel.

William C. (Father Bill) Daly, veteran horse trainer of Brooklyn, was legally separated today from his wife, Mrs. Ella Daly, by an order signed by Justice Benedict of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn. The order marks the end of a long series of disputes between them.

Father Bill is about 80 years old. He and his wife have been living in Linden Avenue, Brooklyn. Justice Benedict announced that he would leave to a referee the determination of the custody of the child, Mrs. Daly is to receive. Mrs. Daly alleged cruelty and accused Daly of being unfaithful. Daly denied the charges and contested the action.

The couple were married in 1896. Mrs. Daly alleged that her husband's income was $20,000 a year, but "Father Bill" denied this.

KLAN LEADER CONVICTED.

Found Guilty of Assault After Ku Klux Attack on Doctor.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., June 30.—John H. Vitelle, former Exalted Cyclops of the Taft (Cal.) Ku Klux Klan, was found guilty by a jury last night of assaulting Dr. Dwight B. Mason of Taft by beating him with ropes.

Vitelle was acquitted of a charge of assault with intent to commit murder and the jury disagreed on the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily injury by beating.

The third indictment, on which Vitelle was convicted, is punishable by from two to ten years in prison. He will appear in court for sentence on Monday.

TRUCK DRIVER IS ARRESTED.

Charged With Theft of Motor and Load of Army Clothing.

Harry Smith, 21 years old, of 84 Madison Street, was held in $7,500 bail yesterday by Magistrate Charles A. Oberwager in Jefferson Market Court, for examination July 10, on a charge of grand larceny. Smith was employed as a driver by Jacob Lipschitz, a truckman, who alleges that he beat Smith with an automobile truck to pier 74, North River, to get a load of army pants and shirts to be shipped to the pier at Lafayette Street. The consignment was received at the pier but it is charged that Smith stole the load.

The land is assessed at $1,000,000 and the residence at $2,500,000. The detective Sullivan, Woods and Buckley recognized Smith on the street and arrested him.

TWO MEN ACCUSED OF DARING ROBBERY

Bound and Gagged Man and Woman in Atlantic City Hotel Room, It Is Charged.

$5,000 IN DIAMONDS TAKEN
Rings Torn From Woman's Ears—Proprietors of Bowery Restaurant Extradited.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 30.—A daring robbery in which a man and woman were bound, gagged and robbed of diamonds valued at $5,000 here five weeks ago was disclosed today when Max and Julius Feuer, said to be proprietors of a restaurant at 15 Bowery, New York City, were extradited and arraigned before Judge Robert H. Ingersoll at May's Landing.

The defendants were charged with entering a room at Grossman's Hotel, South New Jersey Avenue, near the boardwalk, on May 27 and of robbing and assaulting Mrs. Florence Suta, 341 East Seventy-seventh Street, New York, and Samuel Horowitz, who lives in the same apartment house. The defendants were held under $8,000 bail each for the Grand Jury. Bond was furnished.

They were arrested in New York by Detectives Joseph Farley and Samuel Weakley. According to Weakley, Mrs. Suta came to Atlantic City on May 27. That evening, while sitting on the hotel porch, she asked Horowitz, an old friend, to go to her room and bring down her coat.

The room was dark. As Horowitz entered, he says, a revolver was pointed against his side and he was told to keep quiet. After taking his diamond ring and stick pin, two men gagged him and held him prisoner.

When in half an hour Mrs. Suta became restless and longed to see her husband and to find him, the robbers forced Horowitz to call her in. She too was seized and bound. Diamond ear rings were torn from her ears and a diamond pin from her bosom, she told the police. Trembling with fear, an alarm was given, the robbers departed.

GIRL SCENARIO WRITER BELIEVED A SUICIDE

Chicago Police, After Finding Cape and Vanity Case on Lake Shore, Seek Her Friends.

Special to The New York Times. CHICAGO, June 30.—Police are seeking a young Chicagoan identified only as "Wayne" and a handsome young woman who gave the name of "Mrs. Schaefer" in their endeavor to clear the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Miss Phoebe Allen, pretty 18-year-old scenario writer of Roanoke, Va., whose cape and vanity case were picked up today on the Lake Shore in Lincoln Park today.

Besides epigrams on love and marriage, the little brown vanity case contained the addresses of several employment agencies, Miss Allen had finally considered literary achievement hopeless. The epigrams included the following:

"Most men have commuting hearts that leave home regularly, but always come back again to wife for a rest. A woman always insists that a man acknowledge her virtue, but a man is thankful if a woman will just overlook all his failings."

"A kind woman is the lily that adorns a platform, a heart woman the rose that sweetens a man's own home. The average man always marries one of these—and then spends his life thinking wistfully of the other."

"Be patient—never try to kiss a woman the first or second time you meet her. And never reveal your purpose, whatever it may be, until she is used to you and trusts you."

"A woman seldom finds real love until she has grown weary of looking for it and has begun to look for the amusement and diversion of synthetic sentiment."

"I've just received a note from Phoebe saying she was going to kill herself," she told the housekeeper. The identity of a young man, presumably a New York attorney, with residence at Roanoke, thought to be the fiancé of Miss Allen, is also sought. A telegram from the young man, who signed himself "Hal," arrived at the Dearborn Street address of the girl this morning. It read:

"Your wire frightened me. I can't come now. Fruster had all your sensible, come home, and forget your blues. Can marry soon and get apartment near Aunt Em. Quit chasing the rainbow. It's a myth. Mailing order tonight. Back to Roanoke Saturday. Discussed a failure to land cars."

SURPRISED AT RESIGNATION.

Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce Decries Action on Williams.

The announcement of the resignation of J. Harvey Williams as President of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, at a special meeting of the Board of Directors on Thursday night, surprised many members of the chamber yesterday. The Board of Directors declined to take any action on the resignation and adjourned until two weeks, when it is expected that a full membership will be present to decide on the resignation.

RUSSIAN BUREAU CLOSES.

Director Sees Salvation of His Country in Middle-Class Regime.

The Russian Information Bureau, established here in May, 1917, by the Provisional Government of Russia, officially closed yesterday. In a final statement, asserted that "just as five years ago, we continue to believe that Russia's salvation lies neither in the preservation of the Red autocracy of Bolshevism nor in a return to the black capitalism, but in the middle course of an orderly democratic development. Every moment brings us nearer to the realization of the aim for which generations of the best representatives of the Russian people have fought and died."

Former New York Nurse a Suicide.

CORNING, N. Y., June 30.—Unconscionable since Tuesday night, when she was found in her room, Mrs. Bertha Elizabeth Emst of Bath, formerly of New York, died at a local hospital at that place this morning. She took poison in a fit of despondency, it was disclosed in a note addressed to her daughter, Miss Marion Emst, a nurse in training in New York City. Mrs. Emst's illness was declared to be dependent because of ill-health and decided to end it all. She directed her daughter to dispose of her effects.

STRONG OUT TO 'GET' FOES, SAYS WITNESS

Son of Nassau Contractor Relates at Inquiry a Conversation With Justice.

ATTACK ON EDWARDS FAILS

Witness Cannot Tell Exact Day He Saw Prosecutor, Reported as Ill, on a Train.

That Supreme Court Justice Selah B. Strong of the Second Judicial District started his John Doe road investigation in Nassau County to "get" G. Wilbur Doughty, the Republican leader of Nassau, and Elmer R. Smith of Hempstead, Presiding Supervisor of the county, was the burden of testimony given by one witness yesterday before the Assembly committee investigating the official conduct of Justice Strong.

Other testimony showed that a committee of the Nassau County Bar Association called upon John R. Hill, a contractor and builder of Westbury, L. I., who was foreman of the December Grand Jury which took up the investigation of highway contracts where Justice Strong left off. It was declared the committee tried to get Hill to testify in conversations between him and Justice Strong while the Grand Jury was engaged in this inquiry.

Testimony also was given regarding a conversation with Justice Strong in which he was quoted as saying he did not expect much out of his John Doe investigation from District Attorney Charles R. Weeks of Nassau County, as the District Attorney was a candidate for re-election. Neal S. Vandewater, counsel for the Nassau County Association, a civic body, was used by Justice Strong to examine witnesses at the John Doe hearings to the exclusion of the County Prosecutor and his assistants, a witness declared.

Dr. John L. Both of Far Rockaway, a son of John Both, a senior member of the contracting firm of Both & Weston, which obtained the contracts Justice Strong was looking into, was the first witness yesterday. He said he was sent for by Justice Strong during the John Doe proceedings and called on the Justice in his chambers at the Court House in Mineola.

Quotes Attack on Weston.

"We are trying very hard to indict your father and I think we will succeed," the witness said Justice Strong told him. "If the Grand Jury fails to find a true bill against him I will send the Grand Jurors out again and again until they do. Now, you know, as we do, what sort of a man Alvin Weston is. He will crawl from under and put the whole blame in connection with these contracts upon your father the moment we get after him. I will gladly help your father as much as I can if he will give us the information we want. I do not expect much out of him, but I will do my best to get him out of the District Attorney, who is after another term. I think Weston is putting it over on your father and is getting contracts for himself outside of the firm and he is also peddling the payroll. I am sorry to see this happen, as many years ago my own father got into trouble over a partner who was not on the level, and I know how I felt about that."

Dr. Both also testified that Justice Strong told him that the men he was particularly anxious to get were W. D. and L. R. S., meaning Doughty, the Republican leader, and Presiding Supervisor Smith. The latter initials appear in the contracts under investigation by Justice Strong in approval of a clause providing for letting without competitive bidding.

On cross-examination by ex-Senator Edgar T. Brackett, counsel for Justice Strong, Dr. Both testified he had read in the newspapers that his father's firm had received many contracts without competitive bidding and that he suspected his father's partner of getting road contracts in his own name without letting his father know. This occasioned a visit by his father and himself to Mr. Vandewater, at the latter's home in Cedarhurst, L. I., as a result of which Mr. Vandewater sent his father a list of such contracts. This was before the visit to Justice Strong.

Publisher Tells of Subpoena.

James E. Stiles, publisher of The Nassau Daily Review and The South Side Observer, both local Republican organs, testified that while the John Doe proceeding was in progress troopers had come to his office and asked for a subpoena. He said he drove to the Court House in Mineola, where Justice Strong told him he had sent for him to discuss the public policy involved in charges to the Grand Jury and in the attacks of newspapers in Nassau County that were opposing him.

"I told Justice Strong," the witness said, "that I did not think it was good public policy to attack the character of public officials without prior investigation of the charges through regular channels, and with that I meant the office of District Attorney Weeks. I also told him that he had been unfair to Supervisor Smith, who was flat on his back at West Palm Beach after a stroke of paralysis, and that he had been unfair also to Senator Thompson in suggesting that he had been bribed to oppose a bill in the Legislature."

"I made that charge to the Grand Jury in public," Justice Strong replied according to the witness, "because it was the only way I could get the facts before the public and get the support of public sentiment."

"I then told him," Mr. Stiles went on, "that he was being used as a vehicle to promote the aims of the Nassau County Association, and that he would mourn the day that he came to Nassau County to besmirch the reputation of honest public officials."

"Did Mr. Vandewater engage in the conversation at any time?" asked Harry C. Perkins, counsel for the committee. "Yes," said the witness. "He said that I had threatened to expose him unless he let up on the John Doe proceedings."

"What did you say to that?" asked Mr. Perkins.

"I said Mr. Vandewater was a damned rat," said Mr. Stiles. "Vandewater then left the room without any rejoinder whatsoever."

Mr. Stiles said that neither Doughty nor Smith owned any stock in this company, capitalized at $250,000, but that Both & Weston owned $4,000 worth. There were about 100 stockholders, among them Robert L. Bacon, C. Herbert Carr and Stephen P. Pettitt.

Joseph Rooney, court stenographer, was recalled and was testified by Mr. Brackett if he had not seen Assistant District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards on a train the very day when, as testified on Thursday, he had reported sick to the court and been referred to by Justice Strong "as a damned little skunk." Rooney said he had seen Edwards on a train but could not fix the date. Rooney said he and Justice Strong were together.

Foreman Hill of the December Grand Jury, the last witness of the day, said the Grand Jury was prepared to hand up a presentment exonerating Senator George L. Thompson of the bribery charge on March 1, but that Justice Strong had told the jurors they should withhold presentments until the last day of their deliberations, which came three weeks later. One of the charges against Justice Strong was that he had refused to accept this presentment when handed

CONFERENCE FAVORS WOMEN AS RABBIS

Ordination Is Approved at Thirty-Third Convention by an Overwhelming Vote.

HOLD HIGH RELIGIOUS PLACE

Resolution Passed at Cape May Acknowledges Woman's Enrichment of Congregational Life.

Special to The New York Times.

CAPE MAY, N. J., June 30.—The ordination of women as rabbis was approved by the thirty-third annual convention of the Central Conference of American Rabbis here today. The following resolution was carried by an overwhelming vote:

"The ordination of women as rabbis is a modern issue due to the revolution in her status in our day. The Central Conference of American Rabbis has repeatedly made pronouncement urging the fullest measure of self-expression for women, as well as the fullest utilization of her gifts in the service of the Highest and gratefully acknowledging the enrichment and enlargement of congregational life which has resulted therefrom.

"Whatever may have been the specific legal status of Jewish women regarding certain religious functions, her general position in Jewish religious life has ever been an exalted one. She has been the priestess in the home and our sages have always recognized her as the preserver of Israel. In view of these Jewish teachings and in keeping with the spirit of our age and the traditions of our conference, we declare that women cannot justly be denied the privileges of ordination."

The resolution was introduced by a special committee, headed by Rabbi Henry Cohen, which was appointed yesterday to draft such a resolution.

American Yellow Taxi Operators Inc.

BONDED UNDER NEW LAW

Yellow Taxi with its clean reliable cabs did not wait until a bonding law was passed to protect the taxi rider and the public on the streets.

Yellow Taxi is in favor of the principles laid down in the new bonding law.

Every Yellow Taxi is bonded from the day we started to operate our first taxi we have given our patrons ample protection because of our organized responsibility.

We believe the safety of the rider and public paramount at all times. We offer even more than the letter of the new law requires.

Yellow Taxi drivers are carefully selected—subjected to strict rules of discipline. They share in our profits. Every driver an escort.

Yellow Taxi is equipped with every procurable safety device.

Yellow Taxi is for the new bonding law or any law for the protection of its patrons and the public.

We do not consider the new law warrants any increase in our low rate of fare or any higher legal rate of fare. Should a change of fare be made by us we will lower the rate because we operate on the principle that the larger the volume of traffic becomes the lower the rate should be and we are growing fast.

HYLAN REPLIES TO HARDING ON PORT

Gives Reasons at President's Request for Asking That Bill Be Vetoed.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL, HE SAYS

Brief Prepared by Corporation Counsel O'Brien Predicts Official Confusion.

Replying to a request from President Harding that he present in writing not later than this morning his opposition to the plan of the Port of New York Authority for the development of New York Harbor, Mayor Hylan yesterday sent a memorandum to the President in which he stated his reasons for asking the President to veto the bill which passed both houses and is now awaiting the President's signature.

The memorandum, which was prepared by Corporation Counsel O'Brien, sets forth that the Port Authority plan is unconstitutional and void in that it attempts to regulate the foreign and interstate commerce passing in, about and through the Port of New York in violation of the commerce clause of the United States Constitution. After setting forth that commerce is now regulated and controlled by the agencies of the National Government, the Treasury Department, the War Department and the Interstate Commerce Commission, it goes on:

"It is visionary to assume that the port authority may be permitted to make a special and separate instance of a matter so vitally bound up in the very life of the republic and curtail, even to a minor degree, the authority of federal agencies; authority which makes, as in law it must make, for uniformity and concord in national commercial regulation. Discord between the States would be bound to raise, as it often has in the past, from any such local regulation of commerce and would speedily lead to the abrogation of the consent."

The brief states that it would be a serious matter to disorganize the uniform system of foreign and interstate commerce by the granting of the consent of Congress to a "sporadic and purely localized plan." Any such plan, it states, cannot be other than local and provincial in its application, if not in its expressed purpose, although called comprehensive. In conclusion it states: "The City of New York has grown and prospered through the fostering care given to its foreign and interstate commerce. It is not too much to say that its commerce intimately affects the life of the whole nation. Any interference with the normal commercial activities of the city, which are controlled by the regular Federal agencies and statutes, will have a resultant effect upon the whole country. Unless the rules and regulations governing the commerce of all the other ports of the country, it is plain that confusion and uncertainty will result, that the ordinary flow of merchandise will be obstructed, and that conflict of authority between the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Port of New York Authority will supervene. There cannot be two masters in this business, which, as we have shown, is a matter of national importance and equality of application. Yet, that is what will surely happen, if the executive approval be given to the pending measure."

Special to The New York Times. WASHINGTON, June 30.—The New York Jersey Port Authority bill, which gives the Federal Government's sanction to arrangements between the States of New York and New Jersey for bridging and tunneling the Hudson River, which has been passed by both houses, was received at the White House last night and was sent to the War Department today for the views of the Secretary of War and the Chief of Engineers as to the measure. The President has ten days within which to consider the bill.

MORSE AND MUCH FREED, REARRESTED AT ONCE

Commissioner Quashes Indictment on Technicality—Denies Bail, but Later Grants It.

PORTLAND, Me., June 30.—Charles W. Morse and Rupert M. Much, after having been released and immediately re-arrested today, furnished bonds for appearance at a continued hearing on July 6, on the question of their removal to New York to answer indictments charging conspiracy to defraud the Government in connection with war shipping contracts.

United States Commissioner Arthur Chapman, who conducted today's hearing, ordered the discharge of the two men upon the contention of their counsel that the complaint upon which they were arrested seven weeks ago contained a technical error. After their re-arrest upon an amended complaint, Commissioner Chapman refused to grant a continuance or to release Morse and Much on bonds.

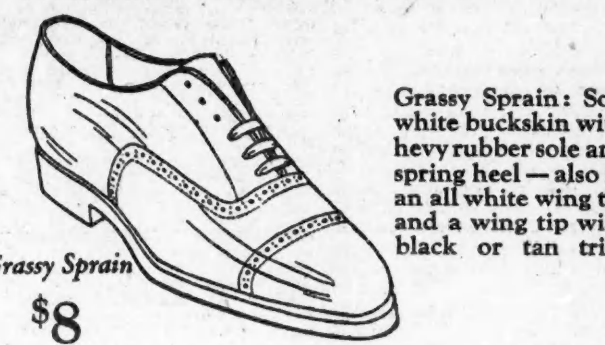

FIND WOMAN'S BODY IN SEA.

Stamford Police Believe It Is Mrs. Robinson, Lost in Storm.

STAMFORD, Conn., June 30.—A woman's body, thought to be that of Mrs. Irene Robinson of New Rochelle, N. Y., was found today in Long Island Sound, five miles west of Stamford Light, by Stephen and Jack Albro, fishermen, of Glen Cove, L. I., who were crossing the Sound to this city. They towed the body into the harbor and left it at the Stamford Yacht Club aft until the medical examiner could view it.

On the evening of June 11, the date of the heavy storm, A. F. Robinson, his wife and children, aged 2 and 4, left New Rochelle for Cold Spring Harbor, L. I. All were lost when the storm capsized or sank their boat. Mr. Robinson's body was found later. There was no means of identifying the woman's body, but the police previously had word that Mrs. Robinson's body might be found in the Sound. On the left hand were a diamond ring and a wedding ring. The body was fully clothed and with a raincoat.

GIANTS WIN, 6-4. Silent Smith's Circuit Clout Helps to Send the Phillies Back Into Last Place. CY WILLIAMS HITS HOMER. Makes His Twelfth Four-Base Smash of Season—McGraw Knocks Ring From Mound.

Everything was quiet and peaceful along the Harlem yesterday. There were no fist fights, and the Shimmers-Smith-Noway three-cornered altercation was left in a state of suspended animation. The only disturbing episode was that during the stillly quietness the Phillies dropped with a hollow thud into last place. They are back home again and everybody is glad. William F. Baker will probably order a fattest calf killed as soon as he realizes what has happened.

The Giants assisted in the homecoming of the wandering Quakers by beating them in the fifth game of the long-overlooked series. It was the champions' fourth victory of the current set and today will find the Giants leading. There is nothing worse ahead than the one-game visit of the Athletics tomorrow.

Yesterday's score was 6 to 4, and the Phillies were again the losers. As late as the beginning of the seventh inning the Giants weren't sure who was going to win. They were in a stage the visitors were on their own head, and the umpire, John H. Egan, was in a somewhat peculiar position. Ring had kept the McGraw away from the plate three times in a row, and there was some fear among the populace that he would have done the same thing a fourth time.

Finally, the combined services of Casey Stengel and Earl Smith, the hustling catcher, and the Giants scurry into the lead. The dynamic in the lower section of the batting order exploded when Casey Stengel, who is a home-run hitter of no mean order, struck McGraw with a single to left. Silent Smith then worked Ring into a bad situation and the home runs in easy-sailing fly into the lower seats in right field. It was not exactly a robust drive, but it served to win the game for the Giants.

As a matter of precaution, the McGraws added a third run in the fifth inning. Bancroft doubled and Frisch singled. After the first run had been induced to go away from there, and Wilbur Hubbell finished the inning and the home run passed away from the pitcher. The umpire, John H. Egan, was in a somewhat peculiar position. Ring had kept the McGraw away from the plate three times in a row, and there was some fear among the populace that he would have done the same thing a fourth time.

GREENHORN OPPOSES LANDIS LECTURES. Says He Will Not Allow Commissioner to Talk to Senators on Gambling and Carousing. UPHOLDS BALL PLAYERS. Declares That 98 Per Cent of Them Are Pure Bots as to Honesty and Conduct.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Clark Griffith, President of the Washington American League club, today in a statement took exception to the reported lecture recently given by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, Baseball Commissioner, to members of the New York and Boston American League clubs. Griffith declared that he considered Judge Landis' remarks, that the ball players must be made to feel, by a carousing arrest at night a direct insult to 98 per cent of the ball players of the country.

Griffith's statement, as a result of the paper reports of Judge Landis' lecture to the Yankees and Boston players, is as follows: "There will be no lectures of the above mentioned kind perpetrated on the players of the American League." THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.

On behalf of the railway unions, Mr. Jewell moved that orders should be taken from them instead of from the Labor Board. On behalf of the board, its Chairman moves the previous question, which is whether the board should act in the manner established by Congress. The Transportation act is law. Congress passed the law and the railroads have obeyed it, often to their great loss. Every presumption is that the law is right and that the board should be sustained.

PERFECTLY NATURAL.

Much too much of wisdom, in the making, has been expended on the North Dakota election. There is no logical connection of it with the result of the primaries in Indiana or Pennsylvania, or even Iowa. The Non-Partisan League had one Senator. It is now to have two. That is about all there is to it. Mr. McCUMBER had everything against him in the fact that he was the sitting, and therefore conservative, member. On the whole, he has been a useful and an intelligent Senator in the nearly twenty-five years that he has served a State whose social and economic conditions have changed notably. He is too radical for the conservatives, too conservative for the radicals. Two years ago he attracted the injudicious doubts of the friends of Senator GRONNA. But these local squabbles are unimportant.

his own nose, should be what it is. He has not been too intelligent about that. His eagerness about the bonus has been singularly interesting. Let us think of Mr. McCUMBER as a very decent and competent Senator who has not kept up with the moronities of his own State; and who unfortunately got the common impression of many of our contemporary statesmen, that the way to political success is to offer a bribe to the "ex-soldiers."

MEXICO AND ILLINOIS.

President OBREGON can see in the "kidnapping" of American oil workers by the outlaw General GORAZOVIC nothing but an attempt "to start difficulties between my Government and the United States and to create animosity between officials of the two countries." He may be wrong about the activities of the ex-lieutenant of that General PALAZO whose industry of plundering oil producers was profitable because CARRANZA was never strong enough to suppress the rascal. It must be remembered to the credit of his successor that he restored order in the Tampico district and drove PALAZO into exile. Vice Consul SHAW called GORAZOVIC a "rebel" in his dispatch announcing the splitting away of the forty Americans of the Cortes Company's camp at Aguada, but he may have turned bandit to resume the "hold-up" business of his former chief. However that may be, President OBREGON is sending troops to Tampico. The President's good faith cannot be questioned. It must be admitted that the exploits of GORAZOVIC and the seizure of BRUCE BIELASKI in Morelos have a look of collusion, as if confederates were at work to embarrass the Obregon Administration. Late dispatches indicate that all of the kidnapped oil workers have been released.

RETRACTIONS AT THE HAGUE.

The Hague conference started out with only one talent against Genoa's ten, and it may follow Scriptural precedent by burying that one in the sands of Scheveleving. Thus far the discussions of the "experts" about Russian trade and Russian credits fall into the field of doctrinal theology rather than economics. For example, LITVINOFF casually remarked to other members of the subcommittee on private property that Russia might be willing to give back some of it to its original owners, but only as a matter of expediency rather than of right. There was nothing new or startling about this. LITVINOFF probably opened the conversation with this remark as a sort of generally acceptable commonplace, a substitute for discussion of the weather. The whole "re-trait to capitalism" has been a matter of expediency, just as much as the hasty summoning of an English tailor to the Hague to make dress clothes for the Russian delegates can attend Queen WILHELMINA'S reception. The delegates are opposed to evening dress in principle, but it is expedient to do what they can to conciliate capitalism.

SHINGLES.

Occasionally a tariff schedule comes under debate which is not highly important in itself, but which so aptly illustrates the sinuosities of latter-day protection that it deserves more than passing mention. Such is the case with the proposed duty of 50 cents a thousand on shingles. The House bill embodied it last year, but the Senate rejected it this week by a large majority. When the tax was accepted by the House the industry was much depressed, most of the shingle mills in Oregon and Washington being shut down. The protective logic was clear and convincing that nothing but a high duty would enable them to open again. But, as a matter of fact, between the time that the Fordney bill passed the House in 1912 and the present the mills have not only resumed operations, but have been exceedingly prosperous. Some of them have been working night shifts, and are reported to be making more money than at any time since 1920. Did this state of affairs diminish the zeal of the Senators from Washington and Oregon for a protective duty on shingles? Not in the least. They came forward gravely to argue that if a protective tariff was to be truly "national" it must cover every industry, and that it would be unfair to discriminate against shingles simply because the business was doing well without any tariff favors, and because the Western farmers and other consumers wanted to get their building materials as cheap as possible. Senator JONES declared solemnly that "if there is any justification for a protective tariff upon any product of this country it lies in the case of 'shingles.' And his colleague, Mr. POINDEXTER, warned the Republican Senators that the tariff bill which they were passing would be "absolutely indefensible" if it did not grant to Washington and Oregon some "return" for the support which those States had given to protective duties for the benefit of other sections. Senator KESLROG of Minnesota made the chief argument against the duty on shingles. He showed it to be entirely unnecessary so far as the industry itself is concerned; certain to make the existing problem of housing more difficult; and inconsistent with the general policy of doing everything reasonable to conserve our forests. His calm presentation of facts and consequences greatly annoyed Senator POINDEXTER. He rebuked the Minnesota Senator for making "a typical free-trade speech, which might as well be applied to almost any other important article listed in the Tariff 'bill as to shingles." He then went on to intimate that certain Minnesota lumbermen held views very different from those of Senator KESLROG. The latter flatteringly stated, however: "It would not make any difference to me if all the lumbermen of that State wanted 'r duty on shingles or lumber; I would not be for it." This provoked Senator POINDEXTER into retorting that the Minnesota Senator ought consistently to be in favor of putting many other things on the free list, such as wheat or structural steel, and he repeated that there is no way in which the protective policy can be justified as a public benefit unless "every man who can supply the American market by his industry" shall get his share of the good things going. But all these moving appeals failed to reach the heart of the Senate, which by a vote of 49 to 18 struck out the duty which Chairman POINDEXTER and the House had decided to be absolutely indispensable if American shingles were still to be for Americans.

PARKING THE MUSICAL VILLAGE.

It is to be hoped that the Mayor is not committed to the project of erecting the so-called Musical Village upon seven acres of Central Park confronting Fifty-ninth Street, but Controller CHAO'S comment on the suggestion has the authentic ring. "Why raise that question?" he is said to have asked, and one can well imagine the weariness of his tone. "You can bet 'ter afford to add to Central Park 'the site at Fifty-ninth Street than 'you can to undertake to put these 'buildings in the Park." There comes a time when rage shifts to scorn and scorn to laughter. Such a desecration is too flagrant to be possible. In the words of Chamberlain BEROLZHEIMER, it is more than likely to "kill the whole thing."

A MISGUIDED CRITIC.

Senator MTRNS of Montana evidently does not like the movies, for instance, as his chief adviser on the subject of the proposed bill to not quite alone, in spite of the enormous popularity which this form of amusement has attained pretty well all over the world. In the speech about them made by him this week he voiced several noble aspirations, and some of his addressers, who are not without a certain amount of sense, have taken them to heart. He gave far too much attention and ascribed far too much importance to the occasional manifestation of bad taste in the domain which to him apparently includes all the possibilities of "immorality," and he failed to mention dangers in the education which our young folk get from the innumerable screens watched by them for so many hours each week. A vicious, because false, sentimentalism marks twenty, perhaps fifty, films for one devoted to "bathing beauties" or the domestic "triangle" and in the literature of all times, for that matter.

A NEW OLYMPUS.

Word comes from Geneva (not Washington) that Dr. GEORGE ELLERY HALE, Director of the Mount Wilson Observatory, has been elected to membership in the international committee which, under the auspices of the League of Nations, is to study and suggest methods of intellectual co-operation throughout the world. Dr. HALE is an American, but it would appear that he is not to sit as a representative of America, just as Dr. JOHN BARRETT MOORE, though an American, does not sit in the International Court of Justice at The Hague as a representative of the United States, but as an authority on international law. It may be assumed, however, without conceit, that in the opinion of the rest of the nations the circle of wisdom, as well as that of justice, would not be complete without an American.

OUR NAPOLEONS ABROAD.

New York's Fire Chief, JOHN KENLON, looking over Europe and its methods of putting out fires, is not likely to see much that he doesn't already know. European fire departments, thanks to the fire-preventing habits of the population, don't get much practice. Perhaps that is the reason they lack something of the dash, if not of the technical perfection, of the best American forces. With all due respect to the fire departments of London, Paris and Berlin, if New York were left to the protection of any one of them it would burn down in a week. However, Mr. KENLON is judiciously distributing praise to his European hosts; and he did his bit to head off the flood of immigration by telling an interviewer in Berlin that, though the American workman earns 8,000 marks a day and the American intellectual laborer 1,500 marks, the prices are so high that European labor is, after all, not much worse off. Meanwhile, Commissioner EVANOFF, whose department also has a harder task than most of its European analogues, is touring Europe. But, so far as can be gathered from the scanty official dispatches which he sends home about the doings of his expeditionary force, he isn't looking for "shingles." And his colleague, Mr. POINDEXTER, warned the Republican Senators that the tariff bill which they were passing would be "absolutely in-doesn't overlook a slight difference between the two. NAPOLEON spent little time at a desk; Commissioner EVANOFF's career is proof that the typewriter is mightier than the nightstick. However, Europe will be all the better off for its contact with these two types of American municipal administrators. But why not give Europe a real treat? It has seen our Napoleon; now let it see our Lorenzo the Magnificent, patron and patronizer of art. We could spare him for a few months, and a visit from him would be worth more to Europe than the cancellation of war debts.

CONGRESSIONAL CABINET.

Would Strengthen Government and Serve People Best. The revival of the discussion of measures looking toward an easier and more natural co-operation between the executive and legislative branches of the Federal Government is timely and important; for the last few years especially have shown that under our present practices such co-operation is difficult, and that the public business growing rapidly in complexity, is likely to be seriously hampered if something of the kind is not done. President HARDING and his advisers are to be congratulated on taking the matter up for consideration.

June Showed Belated Repentance. After a long series of days—months of it, seemed—that tried human patience and temper nearly to the breaking point by the combination of heat and humidity, yesterday brought sunshine at last, and justified, except for more capricious critics, the Weather Bureau's characterization of it as "fair." The temperature had not fallen noticeably, but there were breezes which by only a little exaggeration could be called "zephyr," and the air, though by no means of the "cool" variety, was not so easily and comfortably breathable. June has behaved so badly that under the law of averages July should give us some weather that is dry and warm. Unfortunately the law of averages does not apply, meteorologically, except over long periods. For single seasons they are all repeated or ignored. That statement is contrary to unscientific belief, which is the same as saying the belief of almost everybody. In nothing more than about the weather do "the general" disregard the lessons of experience, and the Chairman of the Senate as his chief adviser on financial affairs, and so on down the list. Moreover, he could instruct the heads of the executive departments to be guided by the directions he transmits through his Congressional advisers, and the various departments, and could thus have these advisers together as his Cabinet.

LIQUOR ON AMERICAN SHIPS.

Follows the Flag? In your editorial yesterday, "Does Rum Follow the Flag?" you quoted two opinions of the Department of Justice during my administration as Attorney General, which you seemed to think left the matter in some doubt. I call your attention to the opinion of Nov. 1, 1920, signed in my absence by Solicitor General PRISONER, which covers the precise point. It was then held that the Eighteenth Amendment by its terms applies to the United States and "to all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof." The opinion of Mr. Justice FIELD in United States v. Smiley was quoted as follows: "The constructive territory of the United States extends to all territory under their flag; wherever they go they are under their flag and are subject to their laws and their jurisdiction." It is presumed that the National Prohibition act applies to persons on board American vessels on the high seas, or in foreign waters. Whether right or wrong (and I have no doubt of its correctness), this opinion binds the conduct of all officers and officials of the Government. MITCHELL PALMER, Commissioner of Prohibition, Washington, June 29, 1922.

That statement is contrary to unscientific belief, which is the same as saying the belief of almost everybody. Follows the Flag? In your editorial yesterday, "Does Rum Follow the Flag?" you quoted two opinions of the Department of Justice during my administration as Attorney General, which you seemed to think left the matter in some doubt. I call your attention to the opinion of Nov. 1, 1920, signed in my absence by Solicitor General PRISONER, which covers the precise point. It was then held that the Eighteenth Amendment by its terms applies to the United States and "to all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof." The opinion of Mr. Justice FIELD in United States v. Smiley was quoted as follows: "The constructive territory of the United States extends to all territory under their flag; wherever they go they are under their flag and are subject to their laws and their jurisdiction." It is presumed that the National Prohibition act applies to persons on board American vessels on the high seas, or in foreign waters. Whether right or wrong (and I have no doubt of its correctness), this opinion binds the conduct of all officers and officials of the Government. Would Strengthen Government and Serve People Best. The revival of the discussion of measures looking toward an easier and more natural co-operation between the executive and legislative branches of the Federal Government is timely and important; for the last few years especially have shown that under our present practices such co-operation is difficult, and that the public business growing rapidly in complexity, is likely to be seriously hampered if something of the kind is not done. President HARDING and his advisers are to be congratulated on taking the matter up for consideration.

June Showed Belated Repentance. After a long series of days—months of it, seemed—that tried human patience and temper nearly to the breaking point by the combination of heat and humidity, yesterday brought sunshine at last, and justified, except for more capricious critics, the Weather Bureau's characterization of it as "fair." The temperature had not fallen noticeably, but there were breezes which by only a little exaggeration could be called "zephyr," and the air, though by no means of the "cool" variety, was not so easily and comfortably breathable. June has behaved so badly that under the law of averages July should give us some weather that is dry and warm. Unfortunately the law of averages does not apply, meteorologically, except over long periods. For single seasons they are all repeated or ignored. THE UMPIRE OR THE STRIKE?

"Civic Warfare" in Essential Industries Should Be Replaced by Arbitration Under Government Authority. President CHARLES W. ELIOT. It is obvious now, particularly in national-wide disputes of other men of settlement. While the United States has in the past means were found for settling by very threatening labor and Railroad Arbitration and the United States Labor Board afford another example, though not a very successful one, of arbitration as a method of settlement instead of a strike. It is my belief, however, that no such industrial disputes should be referred to the state Commerce Commission or to the rates and railroad properties which have both uneven and slow—two grave defects in an arbiter.

ARRESTS ARE MADE YET TESTIMONY SHOWS LAVISH PERSONAL EXPENDITURES BY DIER—EMPLOYS NOW IN PRISON.

Testimony Shows Lavish Personal Expenditures by Dier—Employs Now in Prison.

Elmore D. Dier, head of the brokerage firm of E. D. Dier & Co., whose failure inflicted losses of nearly $3,000,000 on creditors numbering thousands, was indicted sixteen times yesterday.

Seven of the indictments are for bookkeeping, and these were found not only against Dier and Lawrence but against two of his office managers, Benjamin F. Shrimpton and Adam Recklin.

Shrimpton has agreed to make restitution of $25,000 to the Dier creditors.

Four Men Indicted Still at Large. Supreme Court Justice Gugerich issued bench warrants for the arrest of the four men indicted. An unsuccessful search was made for them yesterday.

Detective John Cunniff, who was sent out to arrest Dier, could not find him. Nash Rockwood, the lawyer who represented Dier, was also arrested.

More Indictments Expected. Additional indictments of Dier were reported to be likely, following testimony made public last week that he had drawn several hundred thousand dollars of the money of the creditors to buy houses, works of art, automobiles and jewelry and to finance a costly style of living, and further testimony that he had concealed assets and sold them privately.

One Indictment was based on the testimony of Andrew M. Hamill of 517 West 129th Street, Manhattan, who testified that $15,000 which he had paid for the purchase of a $1,000 Northwestern Bell Telephone Company bond was used by Dier to buy a stock of Lake Superior Oil.

Another indictment was based on the testimony of a man who said he had received $174 to the firm for thirty shares of Lake Superior Oil. Another indictment was based on the testimony of a man who said he had received $24.17 for a $500 New York Telephone Company 4 per cent bond which he did not receive.

Another charge was that of James Pashos, who said he had been defrauded of $150 paid for 10,000 shares of Allied Oil.

Dier Lost Fight on Books. The indictments followed a fight carried on by District Attorney Stanton since the failure of the firm last January to obtain evidence on which to base indictments.

Resources at His Command to Prevent the District Attorney from obtaining possession of his books. The legal battle between the United States Supreme Court before the prosecutor could obtain the books.

The testimony of Armstrong, the former Dier employee, who testified in the bankruptcy proceedings that he knew how the books were kept, was the basis of the indictments.

Q—What is the history of this man Kohn? A—The history is now that he is doing a business in Philadelphia.

Q—What is the man who was recently indicted in Philadelphia? A—He is the man who was indicted in Philadelphia.

Q—Under what name was he doing business? A—Under the name of E. D. Dier & Co.

Q—You say that he went with Dier about 1917? A—Yes.

Q—And what was his position there? A—He was an office manager, sort of general manager.

Q—Why was he taken in? A—That I don't know.

MRS. BLATCH ON GERMANY Suffragist Who Lived in Private Family Says Repatriation Demands Cannot Be Met.

The rigors of prohibition to those accustomed to drink wine instead of water were brought home to 135 Frenchmen on board the Rochambeau when they were taken to the examination of their papers.

American passengers had been passed upon and permitted to go ashore. The Frenchmen filed into the dining saloon. There were no wine glasses by their plates—just tumblers filled with water.

Slence reigned for the briefest moment and then protestations and imprecations rent the air. The chief steward tried to soothe the excited passengers.

The chief steward, Captain Leon Rollin, and the American pilot who brought the Rochambeau in tried their hand at explaining the provisions of the Volstead act as affecting steamships.

"We have passed the three-mile limit," Captain Rollin told his countrymen. "You are in America. There will be no wine here."

Most of the Frenchmen saluted themselves for the time as evidenced by the fact that they had no wine glasses.

The Rochambeau's steward saved a quantity of food. Captain Rollin, Blatch, woman suffrage and labor advocate, returned with Harriet Stanton Blatch De Forest.

Mrs. Blatch said that while in Germany they had been in contact with the German middle and professional classes.

"The chiefest sin in this family is a banker," Mrs. Blatch said. "One of the daughters is editor of a newspaper, and others are typical representatives of the professional class of Germany."

From what I have seen I can make two prominent statements—first, that Germany cannot pay her debts, and second, that the evil effects of the war will be felt in Germany until the children of this generation have grown up.

Regarding the wealth of the middle class and professional people, all I can say is that it is not what it once was.

TAFT IN CEREMONY AT SULGRAVE MANOR, ON THE TERRACE OF THE WASHINGTON HOME.

Taft in Ceremony at Sulgrave Manor, On the Terrace of the Washington Home.

LONDON, June 30.—Three pieces of Elizabethan paneling which formed the family pew in which Lawrence Washington and other ancestors of George Washington worshipped in the Sulgrave Parish Church were presented today to Chief Justice Taft and given back by him to be re-erected alongside the grave where Lawrence lies buried.

The three pieces of paneling at Sulgrave Manor, Ambassador Harvey presided, sitting on the terrace of the Old World House, which is a magnificent walnut tree, with Mr. Taft on his right hand. Sir Charles Wankford, who has been president of the British Society for the promotion of Anglo-American friendship, described how he had fortunately been able to save the paneling.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Taft visited the home of the late President. Then the Mayors of Nottingham and Banbury gave him copies of the records of their towns.

MURDER CAR OWNER HELD BAVARIA AND WURTEMBERG OPPOSE NEW MEASURES TO SAFEGUARD THE GOVERNMENT.

Copyright, 1922, by The New York Times Company. Special Cable to The New York Times. BERLIN, June 30.—President Ebert today promulgated a drastic supplementary ordinance as a result of the police department's connection of the Munich murderers with the secret "organization consul." Under the emergency clause of the Republican Constitution, Ebert ordained that "all persons who participate in meetings or associations which have for their object the elimination by death of a member of the Government or a member of a former Republican Government shall be punished by death or life imprisonment; likewise persons who financially support such associations or organizations."

This measure is an important advance in the Weimar Government's offensive against reaction under the slogan "In Defense of the Republic."

The Rathenau murder and its political consequences have completely eclipsed the reparations problem, which undoubtedly will come to life again in the next few days.

Most of the Berlin papers did not appear today. The printers exploited the opportunity afforded by the fact that the Weimar Government's offensive against reaction under the slogan "In Defense of the Republic."

CITY TO GET $9,000,000 SHARE OF THE STATE'S INCOME TAX.

CITY TO GET $9,000,000 SHARE OF THE STATE'S INCOME TAX.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 30.—New York City will receive as its share of the State income tax $9,477,175.85, and all counties outside of New York will receive $1,522,824.15, according to an announcement today by the State Tax Commission. The checks for the money have been distributed among the counties the State Treasurer receives a like sum, making the total distribution $23,000,000. This sum is somewhat smaller than that of last year, when $23,000,000 was sent out, but it exceeds the expectations of last year's Legislature, which estimated a falling off of 30 per cent. The actual loss, the commission points out, is approximately 15 per cent.

PRODUCTION ROSE STEADILY IN JUNE Federal Reserve Board Reports Drop in Unemployment and a General Upward Trend.

PRICE ADVANCE CONTINUES Improvement is Most Marked in Basic Industries and Highly Finished Manufacturing Lines.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—In its review of business conditions for June, the Federal Reserve Board reports a steady increase in production, a decrease in unemployment, which has created labor shortage in farm districts and some branches of the steel and building industries, and a general trend toward better times.

"The outstanding features of the economic development during the month," the Board declared, "have been the continued and noteworthy increases in the physical volume of production and a continuance of the advance in prices noted for the month of May. The wholesale price index number of the United States Bureau of Labor statistics showing an increase of five points for that month."

Attention is called to the fact that prices in Great Britain also showed an increase. The index number prepared by the Federal Reserve Board for international comparison advancing four points, as compared with an increase of nine points in the similarly constructed number for the United States.

"An increase in production," the review continued, "is noted in highly finished lines of manufacture as well as in basic industries. The advance has been especially marked in iron and steel and in other lines which have large consumers of steel products, such as automobiles, foundries, machine shops, etc. May copper production was 265 percent of that of May, 1921, and the output of very large advance over the preceding month. Zinc output also increased, being 140 percent of that of May, 1921."

Building activity has continued, the review says, practically unchanged in value of contracts being about 50 percent larger than for the corresponding period last year.

Decided improvement was shown in mining, and moderate improvement in the steel and building trades," the review continues. "While unemployment still exhibits a downward trend, the decline is not so marked as in the preceding months."

"In some lines a scarcity of labor is now reported, and for many months in the steel and building trades," the review continues. "While unemployment still exhibits a downward trend, the decline is not so marked as in the preceding months."

"The Federal Reserve Board reports a steady increase in production, a decrease in unemployment, which has created labor shortage in farm districts and some branches of the steel and building industries, and a general trend toward better times."

WATTS HIS OWN BANK DECLARED BANKRUPT Pennsylvania Concern Has $230,000 Overdrafts in $547,000 Balance Sheet.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 30.—John M. Shugart, of Bellefonte, Centre County, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today in the Federal Court here, asking that himself and the Centre County Banking Company be declared bankrupt.

His statement shows that the bank, a private institution, has liabilities of $847,847 and resources of $337,486. Among the resources are overdrafts of $230,164 and promissory notes of $63,700.

Mr. Shugart asks that four of his partners be relieved from liability to the bankruptcy estate. He alleges that they have refused to join with him, although they know the banking company is insolvent.

His partners were named as George R. Shugart, John M. Shugart, Bellefonte; Florence P. Dale, Hazleton; and Andrew Bresse, Downingtown. Avina Harris, Bellefonte, who died recently, was also a partner, he declared.

Mr. Shugart says that four of his partners were relieved from liability to the bankruptcy estate. He alleges that they have refused to join with him, although they know the banking company is insolvent.

BOY IN JAIL FINDS IT'S A GOOD WORLD Homeless Youth, Who Stole a Grip When Starving, Gets Freedom and a Job.

When Ralph Kay, 17 years old and homeless, was arraigned before Judge Johnstone in General Sessions yesterday he expected a heavy sentence on his plea of guilty to the attempted theft of a suitcase about a month ago from an automobile at Broadway and Astor Place. He had spent more than three weeks in the Tombs, during which he had put on considerable flesh from the prison fare and had seen many malefactors cross the Bridge of Sighs to the Criminal Courts building to receive severe prison terms.

Ten days before, when he pleaded guilty before Judge Johnstone, nobody seemed to be interested in him as he was hurried back to the Tombs. He had held out a little hope of leniency that afternoon when a probation officer called on him in his cell and asked him about himself. He told the probation officer that he was born in Philadelphia; that his mother died when he was 2 years old and, because his father was a sailor in the navy, he was placed in an institution.

He had spent six months ago, he said, when he was released to make his home with an aunt at 322 North Lawrence Street, Philadelphia. Things had changed, he added, which caused him to decide that it was necessary for him to go into the world, and he rode on a freight train to this city about six weeks ago.

He could find no work. He walked the streets in the daytime and slept in doorways and park benches at night. On the day he attempted to steal the suitcase he was desperate from hunger. He was too weak even to carry the suitcase, and he had pulled it out of the automobile, and that alone was the cause of his arrest.

The probation officer of the probation office and the care with which he elicited every detail of his story from young Kay, who told the boy to entertain a faint hope that possibly he would not be punished as severely as some of his fellow-prisoners had predicted, however, who cynically said to him: "You are a fool, kid, that fellow who told the old stuff they give all of us. He's just holding down a fat job when he's out on parole."

The probation officer checked up on young Kay's story. He found it to be true in every detail. He made a lengthy report to the Court, and then Judge Johnstone asked District Attorney Barton to interest himself in the boy's case. Mr. Barton, it happened, was to address the United Day Committee Association that night. He recited the story of the boy's miserable life, and asked: "Is there anybody here who is willing to gamble on the chance that this boy is worth saving?"

"I will," was the prompt reply of Patrick J. Collins of 205 East Thirty-eighth Street, who is the President of the Association. "Turn him over to me, and I'll not alone get him a good job, but I'll be a father to him."

Mr. Collins was in court yesterday when Mr. Barton, to the boy's surprise, asked Judge Johnstone to suspend the sentence. Judge Johnstone, who is the President of the Association, turned the case over to Mr. Collins, who is the President of the Association.

$30,206,000 BONDS OFFERED THIS WEEK

Industrial Group Leads the New Issues with a Total of $9,350,000.

PUBLIC UTILITIES $4,300,000

State and Municipal Offerings $8,311,000 at Prices to Yield 3.90 to 4.70 Per Cent.

New bonds offered to investors this week aggregated $30,206,000, a decided falling off from the previous week, when new issues totaled $93,052,700.

Industrial issues this week amounted to $9,350,000. State and municipal offerings totaled $8,311,000. No foreign bonds were offered.

By groups, the new securities offered were as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Group, Amount. Includes Industrial ($9,350,000), State and Municipal ($8,311,000), and Foreign ($0).

The largest single offering of industrial bonds was the $3,000,000 7 1/2 per cent. issue of the Electric Auto-Lite Company, which sold at par.

The two issues of $1,500,000 each offered by the Benjamin Electric Manufacturing Company and the Jancke Dry Goods, Inc. The former issue bore a 4 1/2 per cent. interest rate and was sold at 95 1/2 to yield 5.50 per cent.

Another issue was the $1,000,000 7 per cent. issue of the Van Dorn Iron Works Company, the Lincoln Mills, Ltd., and the Zenith Furnace Company.

The public utility bonds were offered at prices to yield from 3 1/2 per cent. to 4 1/2 per cent. The only railroad issue offered, an equipment trust, was sold to yield 5.30 per cent. Several other farm loan bonds were put out at prices to yield from 4.55 to 5 per cent.

SIX MONTHS BRING ADVANCE IN TRADE

Dun's Finds Most Gain in Confidence and Transactions Recorded in Second Quarter.

BRADSTREET'S OPTIMISTIC Cement and Auto Industries Report Record Sales—Silk Goods and Hosiery Active.

The half year just ended brought a distinct advance in business, with most of the gain in confidence and actual transactions achieved during the second quarter, according to the weekly review of business by R. G. Dun & Co., while Bradstreet's finds a "very fair degree of activity and a really notable feeling of optimism."

"The price recovery in many commodities is proceeding more rapidly than had been generally expected," says Dun's. "While index numbers of a few months ago indicated clearly that the upward turn had come, certain markets have recently developed characteristics that were familiar in war times. With rising costs of production, due to a combination of influences, many sellers view about prices have undergone recovery, and reports of premiums offered for prompt deliveries are being heard more frequently. Where speculative operations are influential, there has been much irregularity, and cotton has sustained a considerable reaction, after a noteworthy upturn. The main price trend, however, is distinctly toward higher levels, and textiles, hides and furs have been prominent in the movement."

Bradstreet's says that in the cement and automobile trades stand out clearly, with record sales and output reported. In the former industry, the immense program of road construction planned, estimated at 40,000 square yards, has been a big stimulant, reinforcing the active demand from the ordinary building trades. After building materials are active, although primary markets for lumber note less of an edge on buying, there is some softening of prices of woods used in house construction. Hardware, paints and plumbing materials sell well.

In primary textile markets, quiet demand but strength of prices are the outstanding features. The striking mill hands in New England are reported slow to return, although operations have been resumed. The silk goods sector shows the best reports as to new buying, and more mill capacity is reported active at the end of the year. The woolen and worsted goods sectors are active, and there is more call for woolen and worsted dress goods.

Lord & Taylor Dividend.

Twelve Per Cent. Payment on First Preferred Stock Ordered.

Lord & Taylor announced yesterday the declaration of a 12 per cent. dividend on the first preferred stock, payable June 30 to stock of record June 28.

The management pays the accumulated back dividends for the period from Dec. 1, 1916 to Dec. 1, 1918, it was explained in a letter to the stockholders explaining the dividend.

John H. Burns, president, said: "The company is in excellent financial condition, and the dividend for the year should be paid. We believe that in the future you will receive quarterly dividends on the first preferred stock."

THE TREASURY STATEMENT.

Member Banks' Investments Increase, Loans and Discounts Drop in the Week

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Aggregate increases of $110,000,000 of investments in connection with fiscal operations incident to the June 15 tax installment, particularly the issuance on that date of $72,000,000 of new tax certificates against a reduction of $39,000,000 in loans and discounts, are shown in the Federal Reserve Board's weekly statement of condition on June 21 of 709 member banks in leading cities.

Under the general head of Government securities United States bonds show an increase for the week of $8,000,000. Treasury certificates of $78,000,000, and Treasury notes of $74,000,000, which was, however, more than offset by a reduction of $31,000,000 in Victory notes as the result of exchange of these notes for Treasury notes bearing a lower interest rate and maturing three and one-half years from June 15.

Holdings of corporate securities show an all increase for the week of $27,000,000. All classes of loans and discounts show smaller totals than the week before—loans secured by Government obligations, by $20,000,000; loans secured by other securities, by $14,000,000; and other loans and discounts, by $26,000,000.

By far the larger portion of the exchanges of Victory notes for the three and one-half year Treasury notes is shown for the member banks in New York City, which also report a continued increase of $47,000,000 in their loans on corporate securities, as against a substantial reduction of such loans by member banks in the other cities.

Government deposits show a reduction for the week of $72,000,000; other demand deposits (net) declined by $8,000,000, while time deposits show a gain of $47,000,000. For member banks in New York City, a reduction of $20,000,000 in Government deposits, as against an increase of $27,000,000 in demand and $19,000,000 in time deposits, is noted.

Borrowings from the Federal Reserve Bank, increased from $116,000,000 to $123,000,000, but the ratio of these borrowings to the banks' combined loans and investments continued unchanged at 0.8 per cent. The New York City members show a decrease from $9,000,000 to $7,000,000 in their borrowings from the Federal Reserve Bank, and from 0.2 to 0.1 per cent. in the ratio of these borrowings to their loans and investments.

Reserve balances and cash in vault of the reporting banks fell off about $7,000,000 each. For member banks in New York City, reductions of $5,000,000 in reserve balances and of $3,000,000 in cash on hand are noted.

This table is a statement of changes of principal items as compared with a week and a year ago:

DISAGREE ON VALUE OF N. Y. RAILWAYS CO. Company's Estimate of Operating Property Is $91,351,638 Upon Basis to Reproduce.

$29,457,143, SAYS BUREAU Transit Commission Wants City to Pay This Sum—Denny Lines Are "Junk."

A difference of more than $60,000,000 between the Transit Commission's tentative estimate of the value of the operating property of the New York Railway Company and the value placed by the company was disclosed at the hearing before the commission yesterday.

According to figures presented by George G. Reynolds, counsel for the security holders, the company's estimate of the value of all its property was $119,607,800 and of its operating property $91,351,638 upon a basis of cost to reproduce. The commission's valuation of the property was $29,457,143 as the price the city should pay if it took over the lines in the proposed plan of reorganization of the transit companies in the city. The basis for this appraisal was original cost less cost to put in first-class condition. The valuation Bureau also made an estimate of $27,074,464 on the cost-to-reproduce basis, but this estimate was not recommended by the bureau for acceptance.

Charles W. Kellogg of Stone & Webster, engineering details of the valuation of $91,351,638 for the company's operating property as follows: Contract cost $57,872,138 Expenses prior to construction $7,007,800 Contingency less 4,000,000 Land $2,839,000 Franchise payments $15,000 Property owned $2,000,000 Working capital $2,000,000 Total $91,351,638 Less cash balance 1,000,000 Net total $90,351,638

When the estimate of the commission's valuation was made public last February, the company's book value for the New York Railway Company, exclusive of the Eighth Avenue, Ninth Avenue and New York & Harlem lines, which are being operated independently, was shown as $118,083,600. It was shown at the hearing that the company had virtually duplicated the "book value" in its estimate of the value of both operating and non-operating property.

Mr. Reynolds objected to any tendency to consider the property of the New York Railway Company as "junk," that having been a term frequently used by Mayor Hylan in his charge of a committee to "take the obsolete surface lines on the city." "I want to repudiate the idea that sometimes expressed that the security holders are trying to foist the use of this property on any one through the commission's plan of reorganization," he said. "The commission's own engineers have testified that the system has adequate service with the equipment it is in, and that the system is in good condition. They did criticize the plan, the need of cleaning the cars and the need of sanitary car seats instead of the old car seats. All of these are minor matters which are being corrected."

"In the ten months ending April 30 the New York Railway Company carried 146,000,000 revenue passengers, thereby relieving the rapid transit lines of hundreds of thousands of short-haul passengers daily and carrying many others laterally to points not reached by the rapid transit lines."

"You, of course, appreciate," said Commissioner LeRoy T. Harkness, "that the commission has given no assurance that in carrying out its comprehensive plan it necessarily intends to take over all the lines."

"I understand that," replied Mr. Reynolds, "but I just wanted to make clear that the attitude of the security holders is that they have a real going concern and that they do not for one minute believe that it is functionally useless or anything of that character."

The hearing was adjourned until July 6.

Doheny Goes to Los Angeles. Edward L. Doheny, chairman of the board of the Mexican Petroleum Company, has gone to Los Angeles for a stay of several weeks, according to an announcement yesterday. It is understood that in his absence other officials of the company will represent the company at the conferences regarding oil development in Mexico which are now being conducted with the Mexican Minister of Finance.

WOOL MARKET QUIET Eastern Values Steady, Western Lower.

BOSTON, June 30.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say: The wool market has been quieter this week but values are generally steady, especially on standard wools. Some business is reported in new territory wools on grades running 1/4 and above at unchanged rates. Some wools in bond, also, have been sold at steady rates.

In the West desultory buying is reported on the basis of Hays & Co. given the buyers two weeks ago. The manufacturers are getting ready for the new goods season and are buying "only" moderately at the moment. Little apprehension over the railroad strike is felt.

The foreign markets are fairly steady on the basis of closing rates at London.

NEW RATE CUT IN FORCE. Went into Effect at Midnight and Averages 10 Per Cent.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—All restrictions which would prevent the nation's railroads from putting into effect the 10 per cent rate cut, ordered by the Interstate Commerce commission May 24, were declared at the commission's offices today to have been cleared away.

Beginning at midnight tonight, practically all commodities, billed for shipment by rail, will benefit by the cuts which went into effect at midnight last night for the whole country as high as 14 per cent in Eastern territory. The carriers today for the first time since the war have been able to sell their products in all parts of the country outside of New England, Livestock and Western grain and grain products. Shippers, it is estimated, will save about $400,000,000 under the decrease.

Form New Stock Exchange Firm. Announcement was made yesterday of the formation of the New York Stock Exchange firm of C. P. Holdzimer & Co. The partners included Charles F. Holdzimer, formerly of Henry Clives & Co.; Charles L. Edey, Oliver B. Bridges, and George Henriques. The firm will be open for business today at its temporary offices at 111 West Street. Permanent offices will be located in the new Stock Exchange Building when it is completed.

United L. & R. Votes Stock Increase. At a special stockholders' meeting of the United Light and Railways Company held at Portland, Me., yesterday, authority was granted to increase the capital stock from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000. The increase in capital is classified as 100,000 shares of $500 par value preferred stock. The plan provides that $3,430,000 of this stock shall be issued in the form of a bonus to common stock of the concern now outstanding.

136 ROADS SHOW NET GAINS IN MAY Total Net Operating Income Is $46,967,700 Compared With $29,393,000 Last Year.

GROSS INCREASE IS SLIGHT Aggregate of $332,770,500 Is Only Six-Tenths of 1 Per Cent More Than in May, 1921.

Preliminary reports of railroad earnings for May, filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, show that 136 Class 1 carriers, with a total mileage of 170,693 miles, had a net operating income of $46,967,700, compared with $29,393,000 for the same number of roads in the corresponding month last year.

Gross operating revenues for the month totaled $332,770,500, a gain of six-tenths of 1 per cent over last year, while net operating expenditures totaled $282,843,000, a reduction of 6 1/2 per cent compared with last year.

In the Eastern States seventy-six carriers, having a mileage of $5,797, had a net operating income of $24,871,500, against $17,204,600 last year. The operating revenues of these same roads totaled $178,478,000, a reduction of 1.3 per cent compared with 1921, while their operating expenses dropped 7.3 per cent, to $153,606,500.

For the Southern district the incomplete returns show that twenty-two roads, with a total of 22,266 miles, had a net operating income of $7,153,000, against $1,410,000 the same month last year. Total operating revenues for these twenty-two lines was $36,817,000, a gain of 12.7 per cent over last year, and operating expenditures totaled $27,208,000, a falling off of 1 per cent.

Reports for thirty-eight railroads in the Western district, having a total of 92,868 miles, gave their operating revenue of $10,777,700 compared with $10,777,700 last year. Operating revenues totaled $22,860,000 an increase of three-tenths of 1 per cent over May, 1921. Operating expenses totaled $98,900,000, a decrease of 8.3 per cent.

Complete reports for the 201 class one railroads are expected to be filed in the middle of next week. To earn a return of 6 per cent on their tentative valuation the 201 class 1 carriers should have a net operating income of $85,211,600. Recent estimates indicate that it would be about $65,000,000.

LISTLESS TRADING IN COTTON MARKET

Interest-Centres in Crop Estimate Due Monday—High Figure Expected.

Very little new-business was transacted in cotton yesterday, with slight changes in price. Weather continued to be favorable to stimulate buying and the uncertainty over the Washington report Monday prevented selling.

From the start trading appeared to take its cue from Liverpool, where spot cotton was reported to be the first time in several weeks and contracts opened and closed quiet.

Weather conditions remained favorable both as regards moisture and temperature in the cotton belt.

Liverpool cables: Spot cotton quiet, 10 points decline, 13.08 for middling.

WHEAT UNSTEADY ON-RUST REPORTS

The July Drops and Distant Deliveries Gain in Wavering Market at Chicago.

Special to The New York Times. CHICAGO, Ill., June 30.—General liquidation by longs in the July delivery in all grades was on during the day, and, with buying of July and selling of September by elevator interests and buying and selling of all deliveries to bring open trades down to the market, constituted the bulk of the day's business.

Liverpool closed 1/4¢ higher on decreasing stocks and a better cash demand, but no export business of consequence developed.

Steady liquidation in July corn and oats went to some extent early by changing of hedges over into the September by elevator interests, but the

HUNT CYPSES HERE AS GLASS KIDNAPPER

Band Trailed Through Venezuela and Porto Rico Intercepted at Staten Island Ferry.

ACCUSED WOMAN ESCAPES

Parents of Boy Missing Seven Years Believe Mystery Will Be Solved Soon.

After seven years' search, in which they say they have spent $100,000, the parents of "Jimmy" Glass, the Jersey City boy, then 5 years old, who disappeared from Greenvale, the County, Pa., on May 12, 1915, believed last night that they were on the eve of obtaining a clue to him. The parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Glass, were summoned yesterday to Staten Island to look over a group of gypsies detained by the police there and who, it was believed, might be able to give some information about the missing boy. Later, they returned to Manhattan and questioned part of the same band of gypsies who had been taken to Old Slip Station. They talked to all the children among the gypsies, hoping to find their boy among them. One vanload of gypsies, it developed, had eluded the police and among these it was learned, was Mrs. Rosano Costello, who was believed to know all about the missing boy. The police are now searching for her.

After the disappearance of the Glass boy, it became known that a band of gypsies had passed through the neighborhood and it was thought they might have kidnapped him. This band was traced through Venezuela, Brazil and Porto Rico. Information was obtained that a boy had been seen with a man who answered the description of "Jimmy" Glass but this boy was never found.

Yesterday the Jersey City police learned that this band of gypsies which crossed the ferry at Perth Amboy into Staten Island. They requested Detective Lieutenant Ernest Van Wagner, at Staten Island headquarters, to detain the gypsies until Mrs. Glass could be sent for.

Came From Ohio.
The gypsies were traveling in five automobiles which were Ohio license plates. The band had traveled from Venezuela to Brazil, Porto Rico, thence to a Southern port and on into the Middle West. They arrived at Perth Amboy recently from Akron, Ohio. It was said they were planning to camp near Jamaica, L. I.

The Staten Island police stopped three of the vans, the others having gone on to Manhattan. Word was sent to the Manhattan police and another van was interrupted at the Staten Island Ferry. A fifth van had already disappeared in Manhattan.

Mr. and Mrs. Glass, accompanied by the detectives, then went to the Old Slip station, where the occupants of the van detained were questioned. These gave their names as Rister Costello, 40 years old; his wife, Marie, 38; his daughters, Zorka, 18; Rosie, 4; and Anna, 4; and his sons, Miguel, 15; Spuro, 8; and Bancau 6.

Tells of Rosario Costello.
Costello spoke poor English and could neither read nor write. He said he was born in Virginia of Montenegrin parents and was the son of a gypsy and had been all over the world in his travels. Questioned as to the whereabouts of Rosario Costello, one of the two, including Nicholas and John Cruise, whom the Department of Justice investigated in connection with kidnapping Jimmy Glass, Rister Costello, who said he was a brother-in-law of the woman, replied that he had seen her in Staten Island that day. He told the detectives that the Glass boy had been kidnapped by his brother, also named Rister, several years ago. The gypsies denied any knowledge of the Glass boy's whereabouts or of his having been kidnapped.

Costello's wife and children were equally uncommunicative and practically nothing was learned from them. The gypsies were allowed to leave the police station last night, but it was said would be under observation in the hope of tracing Rosario Costello.
"If we can only find Rosario," said Mrs. Glass, "I am sure that we shall be on the right road. It seems incredible that out of the five vans, the one she was in was the only one to escape and that out of all the gypsies detained she managed to elude everybody and slip at least out of Staten Island and possibly into New York. But we must find her, I am sure. We are hopeful and we are happy in my. It seems as if little Jimmy was nearer to me tonight than he has been in seven long years."

Mr. and Mrs. Glass had a moment of hope in Staten Island when Captain Wagner informed them that the police of Staten Island several days ago had picked up a small boy who they said in a general way the description of their son. The boy, the police said, had been abandoned by another gypsy band.
This boy, Captain Wagner said, had been taken to the Children's Society Shelter on Staten Island and was still there. Mr. and Mrs. Glass drove in an automobile to the Shelter. After talking with the boy and examining him closely, reluctantly they were forced to admit he was not their son.

The boy was equally disappointed and cried. He was comforted by Mrs. Glass, who drew from him the fact that he had been kidnapped by gypsies about four years ago. He could not remember anything that was stolen near anything about his parents or home. He was called Russell.

UNION OFFICIAL CONVICTED.
Wm. Hogan of Electrical Workers Found Guilty of $28,000 Theft.

William A. Hogan, Secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local No. 8, was found guilty yesterday of the theft of $28,000 from the union, by a jury in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court. The indictment on which he was placed on trial, on June 12 was a result of the Lockwood committee's investigation into the housing conditions in this city. Justice Gleeserick remanded Hogan for sentence on July 10. The jury recommended mercy.

Evidence at the trial showed that Hogan collected the money in a week from non-union workers for the privilege of working with union men. Special Deputy Attorney General Inadore Kressel and Abraham Freedman revealed that Hogan concealed the receipt of the money through false entries in his books.
Hogan, who is 56 years old, was shown to have deposited an average of $11,000 in the bank in the years 1919, 1920 and 1921. He also built his home at 947 South Sixth Street, Mount Vernon, during that time at a cost of $15,000.

RUM RUNNER FREED ON PLEA OF ILLNESS

Camden Man Declared to Be in Danger of Death in Mercer County Jail.

Marice Hertz of Camden, N. J., was set at liberty yesterday after serving four months of a term of six months in the Mercer County Jail for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act. The sentence was changed by Federal Judge Lynch after he was informed that Hertz was in bad physical condition and further confinement might cause his death. Hertz pleaded guilty in February to a charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, it being alleged that he was involved in the rum-running operations of the ship Henry L. Marshall. Hertz also was required to pay a fine of $5,000.

The United States Government has filed a libel in the Federal Court asking for the condemnation and forfeiture of more than 400 lots of liquors seized at many dry saloons in Palmer, Camden, head of the legal division of the prohibition department, said yesterday that virtually all of the liquor must be destroyed, as it will not stand the test of good liquor.

In sentencing two men yesterday to pay fines for selling whisky from flasks in Collie Park, Long Island City, Judge Bert J. Humphrey in the Queens County Court said he was determined to break up the traffic in the park. Joseph McCormack, 36, of 16 St. John's Place, Brooklyn, and William Roach, 40, of 349 Ninety-fourth Street, Manhattan, were the men who were sentenced. Their penalty was a fine of $50 each.

Summonses were served yesterday for alleged violations of the Volstead act as follows: Daniel Clancy, owner of a saloon at 234 West Seventy-fifth Street; Herman Olshtoltz, owner, and John Scheider, bartender, of a saloon at 295 First Avenue; Jimmy Jerry, owner of a saloon at 1945 First Avenue; Frank Debo, owner, and Victor Bonasini, bartender, at a saloon at 921 Tremont Avenue, the Bronx.

REDUCE MARINE'S SENTENCE
S. M. Berger Must Serve Two Years for Part in Managua Riot.

SPECIAL TO THE NEW YORK TIMES.
WASHINGTON, June 30.—Acting Secretary Roosevelt today committed to two years' actual imprisonment the sentence of eight years imposed on Private Simon M. Berger of the Marine Corps after conviction of participation in a riot at Managua, Nicaragua, on Dec. 8, 1921. Forty marines were convicted of participating in the riot and received sentences of from eight to forty years imprisonment.

Berger is now in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. He will be taken to the marines' disciplinary barracks at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, to serve the rest of his term. Berger's mother is Mrs. Fanny Berger, 8107 194th Street, Richmond Hill, L. I. Samuel Littmann, attorney, of 350 Fulton Street, Jamaica, who argued the case before Acting Secretary Roosevelt and Judge Advocate General Latimer, obtained permission to submit additional evidence with a view to getting aside the rest of the imprisonment.

The reduction of Berger's sentence was granted on evidence that his conviction was due to testimony of two witnesses, that he was present when a marine plot to shoot up Managua was hatched, and that his failure to take the stand in his own behalf was on advice of counsel.

WINS ACCUSER'S SYMPATHY.
Mrs. Sherry Freed of Theft Charge Brought by School Teacher.

Mrs. Bessie Sherry, who said she was at one time a member of the Greenwich Village Police Company and who gave her address as 306 West Fifty-first Street, was discharged yesterday by Magistrate Harry Howard Dale when the complainant, Miss Catherine Adrian, a school teacher, withdrew a charge of grand larceny.

Mrs. Sherry was arrested on Thursday evening at the home of a friend with whom she had left her baby. She told the detectives that after joining the Greenwich Village police she went to Canada that company and she met an actor whom she married. She returned to New York with her husband, she said, but they were unable to secure an engagement and she was compelled to pawn her possessions. Finally, she said, her husband left her and she returned with friends and made her home with Miss Adrian in Brooklyn, where she saw clothing and jewelry belonging to Miss Adrian. She said she could not resist the temptation to take them in the hope of raising sufficient money to take her and her baby south.

FRUIT PEDDLER FINED.
Offender Shrug, Gets Off Easy Despite Four Policemen.

Four policemen surrounded Max Spiegel, a peddler, of 282 South First Street, Brooklyn, when he was arraigned yesterday before Magistrate William A. Sweetser in the Tombs Court. Each of the policemen had served a summons on Spiegel for violating city ordinance.

Two of them, between stern glances at the defendant, declared that he had exposed a pushcart filled with cherries to the dust of the streets. The other two, showing clear evidence of being offended, charged that he was selling fruit on restricted thoroughfares.

Spiegel, with an appealing glance at the court, shrugged his shoulders in acknowledgment of the charges. He was fined $2 and $3 on the charges of peddling and received suspended sentences on the other two charges.

Special Master for Phone Suit.
A special master will be appointed by Federal Judge Mayer, on Monday, to take testimony in the suit instituted by the New York Telephone Company to restrain the Public Service Commission from attempting to enforce its order limiting telephone rates throughout the State. The master will be instructed not to begin proceedings in the case until Oct. 15, when it is expected the State-wide inquiry being made by the Public Service Commission into telephone rates will be finished, thus relieving the commission of the necessity of taking part in two telephone inquiries at the same time.

Summer Sale
NOW $1.85 All One Price

You don't have to apologize for saving a dollar or two when you buy a TRULY WARNER, because the Whole World knows the Largest Volume is the secret for giving the Greatest Value.

As far as Style goes, they're all following the STYL-FLASH which I introduced this Season—imitations of which I've recently noticed in a number of windows all over town.

I experimented a month or two in the Factory before I could successfully produce the STYL-FLASH, and the imitations you see around town today look to me like my first factory experiments with the Amplified Radio Edge.

Now, when you buy your Second Straw, it's not necessary to take something nobody wanted at the beginning of the Season, and you don't have to take an "imitation" if you want the Original STYL-FLASH.

I've just received fresh shipments from the factory and I'm prepared now to give you all Styles at One Price—$1.85.
